DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination (RCE) under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application on 06/22/11 after final rejection of 03/21/11. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's concurrently filed submission (amendment) has been entered. Claims 12 and 14-24 are pending in the instant application. Claims 23 and 24 have been withdrawn from further consideration as non-elected. The Office action on claims 12 and 14-22 follows.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

3. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US/7, 439, 844 to Hase et al (hereafter "Hase", of record).

Regarding claim 12 Hase disclosed (Fig. 8) a fusible conductor for a fuse element, said fusible conductor comprising: an electrically insulating core (201); a fusible wire (203) wound about and in direct contact with the core forming a plurality of first windings; and an electrically insulated fibre (205) wound about the core forming a plurality of second windings disposed between each of said plurality of fusible wire windings wherein the insulating fibre in one or more of the second windings is adjacent a surface of the fusible wire of a pair one of successive first windings.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 14-23, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hase taken alone.

Regarding claims 14-17, Hase disclosed all as applied to claim 12 above, and further, that both fusible wires and one insulating fiber have an approximately circular cross section (Fig. 9), but did not specify the ranges for the ratio of the diameter of the fusible wire to that of the insulating fiber (i.e. between 1/3 and 3, or between 1 and 3), and for the spacing between the turns of the fusible wire (i.e. smaller than diameter of the fusible wire, or 0.2 to 2 times the diameter of the fusible wire).

It would have been obvious to a person of the ordinary skill in the fuse art at the time of the invention to select any appropriate ranges for the aforementioned ratio and for the spacing, including as claimed, or any suitable value within said claimed ranges, in order to achieve the desired mechanical and electrical properties of the fusible conductor, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233. Further, it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980). All claimed elements and methods have been known in the prior art at the time of the invention, and one skilled in the fuse art could have modified the elements as claimed by known methods with no change in their respective functions, and the modification would have yielded predictable results to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention. See KSR International Co. v. Teleflex Inc., 550 U.S. ___, 82 USPQ2d 1385 (2007).

Regarding claim 18, Hase disclosed that the outer surface of the wound fusible wire (203) projects beyond the outer surface of the insulating fiber (205), (inherently, since the diameter of the fusible wire (203) is larger than the diameter of the insulating fibre, (Fig. 9)).

Regarding claim 19, Hase disclosed that the core (201) has a circular cross section and the cross sectional dimensions of the insulating fiber (205) are smaller than the diameter of the core (Fig. 9).

Regarding claims 20 and 21, Hase disclosed that the insulating fibres consist of one or more glass or ceramic fibres (col. 15, lines 25-38).

Regarding claim 22, Hase disclosed that the core (201) consists of one or more glass fibres (col. 13, lines 61-64).

Response to Arguments

6. The Applicant's arguments, while being considered, are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.
